If the retreat is cancelled by reAlive Co, participants will receive a full refund of all retreat fees paid, including the booking advance.

reAlive Co will not be responsible for reimbursing separately incurred expenses such as travel, external accommodation or other personal bookings.

4. Accommodation

The standard retreat fee includes two nights at Bhakti Kutir in a twin-sharing, non-AC eco-hut.

Bhakti Kutir's accommodation is intentionally simple and close to nature. The hand-crafted huts are made using local materials and are naturally cooled by the surrounding nature rather than air-conditioning. Beds are equipped with mosquito nets, and the cottages retain a rustic, back-to-nature character.

Participants should book with the understanding that this is not a luxury resort stay, but a simple eco-stay chosen to complement the slower, nature-led spirit of the retreat.

Living close to nature

Bhakti Kutir sits within a living tropical ecosystem, so the occasional insect, gecko, bird or monkey may make an appearance around the property. We like to think of them as part of the neighbourhood.

Each participant will also be provided with a herbal mosquito repellent, and the beds are fitted with mosquito nets to make your stay more comfortable.

Single occupancy

Single occupancy may be requested but is subject to availability. Any additional accommodation cost will be payable separately.

Staying elsewhere

Participants who prefer to arrange their own accommodation may do so after discussing it with reAlive Co. The applicable retreat-only fee and logistics will be shared separately.

Accommodation-related concerns

The accommodation itself is operated and managed by Bhakti Kutir, while reAlive Co facilitates the retreat programme. Any room, housekeeping, maintenance or property-related concern should therefore be raised directly with the Bhakti Kutir team during your stay.

We will, of course, be happy to help connect you with the right person if needed.

5. Meals & Dietary Requirements

The retreat includes main meals for the duration of your stay.

Meals will be simple, nourishing and satvic (plant-based food with no meat, fish, eggs or dairy), prepared fresh with seasonal and largely local ingredients. The food is intentionally homestyle rather than elaborate, with dishes such as vegetable curries, salads, breads and other seasonal preparations.

All participants will be served the same retreat menu, and we are unfortunately unable to provide individually customised meals for allergies, intolerances or specific dietary requirements.

If you have a serious food allergy or dietary restriction, please speak to us before booking so you can decide whether the retreat meal arrangement is suitable for you.

Any additional food, beverages or meals ordered outside the retreat meal plan will be payable separately by the participant.

P.S. While all meals served as part of the retreat will be plant-based, we do not police or restrict what participants choose to consume outside the retreat meal plan.

6. Health, Safety & Participation

The retreat includes yoga, somatic movement, breathwork, meditation, nature walks, group activities and other physical practices.

Please participate within your own comfort and physical capacity. You are always welcome to pause, modify or opt out of an activity if something does not feel right for you.

If you have any injury, mobility concern, medical condition or other health consideration that may affect your participation, please let us know before the retreat begins so the facilitators are aware.

Participants remain responsible for making decisions about their own physical and emotional wellbeing throughout the retreat.

The retreat is intended as a wellbeing and self-exploration experience and does not replace medical care, psychotherapy or other professional health treatment.

For outdoor activities, participants are expected to follow facilitator instructions and basic safety guidance, particularly during forest walks and other activities away from the retreat property.

7. Programme Changes & Unforeseen Circumstances

The retreat schedule, facilitators and activities may occasionally need to change due to weather, safety considerations, availability or other practical circumstances.

Where possible, reAlive Co will aim to offer a suitable alternative while preserving the overall spirit and experience of the retreat.

Changes to the timing, order or format of individual activities will not normally entitle participants to a refund.

If circumstances require reAlive Co to cancel the retreat entirely, the cancellation and refund terms outlined in Section 3 will apply.

8. Community Conduct & Shared Spaces

The retreat is designed to be a respectful, relaxed and inclusive shared experience.

We ask all participants to:

- treat fellow participants, facilitators, Bhakti Kutir staff and the surrounding environment with respect;
- respect other participants' personal space, boundaries and choices around participation;
- avoid disruptive, aggressive, discriminatory or harassing behaviour;
- follow reasonable safety instructions from facilitators and property staff;
- be mindful of noise and shared spaces, particularly during rest hours.

Some retreat sessions may involve personal reflection or group sharing. Participants are expected to treat anything shared by others in these spaces with sensitivity and discretion.

Participation in sharing exercises is always voluntary. No one will be required to disclose anything they are uncomfortable discussing.

Mobile phones & digital use

We encourage participants to keep phone use to a minimum during the retreat so there is more space for rest, presence and connection. Phones should be kept on silent and put away during all facilitated sessions, group circles, and shared activities unless needed for an emergency or specifically invited as part of an activity.

During free time, participants are welcome to use their phones as they choose, while remaining mindful of the shared environment and other guests' privacy.

Alcohol, smoking & recreational drugs

Participants must follow Bhakti Kutir's policies regarding alcohol, smoking and vaping while on the property.

Participants are expected to attend all retreat sessions sober, and smoking or vaping is not permitted during retreat activities. There are no exceptions to this rule.

What participants choose to consume off the property and outside retreat activities is their own responsibility, provided it does not affect their participation or the experience of others.

Illegal drugs are strictly prohibited. Their possession, purchase or use may constitute a criminal offence and be punishable under applicable law, and reAlive Co will neither facilitate nor assume responsibility for any such activity.

We also reserve the right to ask a participant to leave the retreat in cases of serious misconduct, behaviour that compromises the safety or wellbeing of others, or repeated disregard for these shared expectations.

In such cases, no refund will be provided.

9. Littering & respect for natural spaces

Littering is NOT acceptable during the retreat. This includes cigarette butts, food waste, tissues, packaging, bottles, cans, or any other organic or inorganic waste.

Participants must not leave litter on beaches, in forest areas, or at any location visited as part of the retreat. Where bins are not available, all waste must be carried back and disposed of appropriately.

We expect particular care in the forest sanctuary and other natural areas. Nothing should be left behind, including biodegradable or organic waste, as it can disturb wildlife and the natural ecosystem.

NOTE: Any participant found littering will receive one warning. A further violation may result in the participant being asked to leave the retreat without refund. We're not kidding.

10. Travel, Personal Belongings & Responsibility

Participants are responsible for arranging and paying for their own travel to and from the retreat unless a transfer has been explicitly included or arranged separately.

Note: We will coordinate transport between Bhakti Kutir and the Day 2 forest walk, as part of the retreat arrangements. The mode of transport may vary depending on group size and logistical requirements.

Please take reasonable care of your personal belongings during the retreat. reAlive Co cannot accept responsibility for lost, stolen or damaged personal items.

Any personal expenses incurred during the retreat, including additional food or drinks, therapies, transport, shopping or activities outside the included programme, will be the participant's responsibility.

Participants are also responsible for any damage they cause to accommodation, property or equipment during their stay and may be required to cover the associated cost.

11. Photography, Video & Privacy

We may take photographs or short videos during the retreat for reAlive Co's documentation, website, social media or future promotional material.

If you do not wish to be photographed or filmed, please let us know before the retreat begins. We will make reasonable efforts to respect your preference.

Participants are also requested to be mindful when photographing or recording others and to seek their consent before sharing identifiable images, videos or personal moments publicly.

Any personal reflections or experiences shared during circles or group sessions should be treated with respect and confidentiality and should not be shared outside the group without the person's permission.

12. Participant Declaration & Acceptance

By signing below, I confirm that I have read and understood the reAlive Weekend Retreat Terms & Conditions and agree to abide by them.

I understand the nature of the retreat, accommodation, activities, shared environment and no-littering policy described in this document. I confirm that I am participating voluntarily and accept responsibility for communicating any relevant concerns before or during the retreat.
